

"Medically Indigent" Can Be Confusing Term

Fred W. Luigart Jr.

At the heart of Perry County's medical problems is a term, one not too well defined—"medically indigent."

Don't turn to the dictionary—you won't find a satisfactory answer there. Circumstances make the term confusing. Actually, it's a term that needs defining in Perry County.

For example:

1. A family can from outward appearances be living in comfort—but still be medically indigent.

2. They can own a car, not a late model, and be medically indigent.

3. Their home may be loaded with an array of modern appliances. But, still they are medically indigent. Time payments explain the appliances.

And then they come to the "medically indigent" who have money, but when it comes to paying hospital and doctor bills are "broke." There's the woman the county health department sent to Louisville for treatment at the county's expense. When she got down there a nurse discovered $900 in cash on her. As circumstances later revealed, she wasn't among the medically indigent. But neither, to her way of thinking, was she should she have to pay for hospital treatment.

"The county has a health department—let them pay my bill."

Who then are the medically indigent?

Basically, they are persons, families whose incomes allow for nothing more than food, housing and clothing. They have no money for hospital or doctor bills. Thus, a man earning $100 a week, but supporting a large family and parents or relatives, may be wholly or partially medically indigent.

Estimates as to Perry County's medically indigent load vary. One man interviewed placed the figure at least 37 percent of the county's population. Other figures range upward as high as 75 percent.

This would mean that approximately 14,000 Perry Countians are either wholly or partially medically indigent. When county-wide economic conditions are poor, the figure becomes higher.

The figure would be even greater were it not for the United Mine Worker's Hospital fund, which takes off the back of taxpayers many of countians who would otherwise be classified as medically indigent.

They are not medically indigent because the fund insures them of their hospital care. One spokesman for the fund estimated that approximately 70 percent of the beneficiaries are a some time or another financially in the category of the medically indigent.

Because of the fund, a beneficiaries hospital and doctor bill is paid in full.

The medically indigent problem, here and elsewhere, is provided some solution by the doctors themselves.

Most members of the medical profession have long recognized that not everyone can pay at the same rate for medical services any more than everyone who buys a car can afford the a Cadillac, Imperial, or Lincoln.

Thus, the tendency among a great many doctors to charge "what the traffic will bear," a humanitarian policy more often contested by those who can afford medical care than by those who cannot.

In Perry County, one doctor has a medically indigent load of around 40 percent. In other words, 40 percent of the patients he sees do not pay at all or pay only a portion of their bill.

Rates Confused in Story

The Herald desires to correct a miss-understanding resulting from the price quotations on private room rates of the two Hazard hospitals last week.

The rate of $16 per day charged by the Mt. Mary includes room, board and nursing service. The rate of $30 per day at the Hazard Miner's Memorial is an all-inclusive rate, paying for everything but doctor bills.

bill.

This makes three influences at work in the county to care for the medically indigent—the doctors themselves, the U.M.W. hospital, and the Mt. Mary and Homeplace hospitals.

In the case of the Mt. Mary, as was pointed out last week, the present charity load, according to he auditors, is heavy. They wrote:

"The amount of free service provided by the hospital is a substantial amount, and it is extremely doubtful that any hospital could survive such a drain on its annual revenues."

Later, the auditors commented:

"The greatest field of improvement will undoubtedly be in the reduction of free service."

Free service means medically indigent. And it is this case, it refers to medically indigent Perry Countians who are not covered by any hospital plans or benefiting from the care provided by the U.M.W.'s hospital fund.

Who are these medically indigent? In rare cases, they are the woman with the $900—a parasite on society. A good many are people on welfare roles, or on social security—people without funds to pay for hospital bills, for doctor care. Some of them have children who could care for them—but don't.

But they are human beings who do get sick, must use a hospital and have a doctor.

Said Mayor Combs in his proclamation:

"The purpose will be to focus public attention on the important part that law has played in America's growth and achievement."

He urged the cooperation of the public, schools and organizations.

This will be the first time in a good many years that Perry County will be without a primary election, Miss Jessie Horn noted last week.

Only two candidates have filed for office, John Carl Perkins, Democrat incumbent, from Hindman, and E. L. Rayburn, Republican, automobile dealer from Olive Hill. Both seek Congressional, Seventh District, the post now held by Mr. Perkins.

A coroner's jury has ruled suicide in the death.

City Not Committed To E.S.T.

"It will be up to the people of Hazard and Perry County to initiate action for Eastern Standard Time," Mayor Douglas Combs said Saturday.

Mayor Combs made his comments upon return here from a meeting in Lexington where several communities and counties endorsed Eastern Standard Time.

Under the Lexington proposal

Eastern Standard Time would be requested of the Interstate Commerce Commission for all of Kentucky east of Lexington.

Mayor Combs said he had not committed Hazard or Perry County to the petition and attended the Lexington meeting in the role of an "observer."

He said he hopes "that this year both the city and county will be on the same time."

Last year, the City of Hazard, at the recommendation of the Hazard Businessmen's Association went on Daylight Savings Time. The County, however, remained on Central time.

Since then, the Kentucky legislature has made "daylight savings time" illegal in the State. The law, passed at the last session of the legislature, is being contested in Kentucky courts by a Fort Knox radio station and the Louisville Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Combs said he was "neither for or against" Eastern Standard Time. He said if the people of this region desire Eastern Standard Time, he will work to get it passed.

He noted, however, that the "people must first decide if they want to change from Central to Eastern Standard Time."

Saturday night, during an interview over Huntington station WSAZ-TV, Senator Thurston Morton noted that changing from one time to another was a matter for the people of the affected area to decide.

He said the process was usually "long and drawn out," but that the Interstate Commerce Commission, would probably decide favorably for a change in time zones if requested by the people.

40 Years Of Service Comes To End For Plant

Almost 40 years of service to the people of Eastern Kentucky has ended for the Hazard steam plant.

The familiar landmark, at which electric power was generated from 1917 to 1954, has been retired, F. M. Baker, Kentucky Power Company vice president and general manager, announced today.

The plant has been on stand-by basis since 1954.

Built in 1917 by the Kentucky River Power Company, the plant is located on the north fork of Kentucky River about two miles from Hazard. With an original capacity of 1,500 kilowatts, the plant's main function was to serve the rapidly expanding coal operations in the section.

In 1919, the plant was sold to the Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company, and immediately after, a 3,000-kw generator was installed. The company became affiliated with the American Gas and Electric Company in 1922, and a year later additional generating facilities were added, more than doubling the plant's capacity.

The plant was again enlarged in 1927 and carried the entire electric load of the area until 1929. In that year, the switchyard capacity was increased and a transmission line was built to the Beaver Creek station, located in what is now Kentucky Power's Pikeville district. This interconnected Hazard with Appalachian Electric Power Company's facilities. Kentucky Power and Appalachian are affiliated companies in the American Gas and Electric Company System.

During World War II, the plant distinguished itself by serving war industries along with regular area needs. However, as larger and more efficient generators were built at other plants, Mr. Baker stated, the Hazard plant went into stand-by basis. Its capacity at the time was 13,000 kw, an increase of 11,500 kw from the original capacity.

Tentative plans call for removal of the stack and most of the equipment. It is planned that the building, or a large portion of it, will remain intact to house control equipment for the Hazard station.

Chapter Meeting

Perry Countians interested in the American Red Cross are requested to attend a chapter meeting at the Kentucky Power Co. auditorium, Thursday night at 7 p.m.

All persons are urged to attend this important meeting.

Mines Protesting Federal Bill

Perry County truck mine operators are requesting Congress not to pass Senate Bill 3290, a bill which would bring small truck mines under the safety code of the Department of Mines.

Telegrams were sent from here last week and more are being sent today to Senators John Sherman Cooper, and Thurston Morton on the bill.

According to one spokesman for the truck mine operators, the bill would force any number of them out of business.

He pointed out that 60 percent of the coal mined in this region is produced by small mines of 14 employees or less.

Two Arrested For Car Theft

Two Cincinnati youth were arrested here Sunday afternoon for the theft of a car last week belonging to the mother of one of the boys.

Arrested were Henry Miller and Thirty Jean Colwell. The two are in the Perry County jail.

Both were arrested and the car recovered at Yerkes by Deputy Sheriff Charlie Stidham and Wiley Maggard.

Stidham tracked down the two after Mrs. Opal Woods, mother of Colwell, had phoned from Cincinnati, reporting the theft.

City To Have

4 Commissioners

Election of two more commissioners to the Hazard Board of Commissioners will probably not come until the next general election in 1959, City Attorney Ernest Faulkner said Saturday.

A recent act of the legislature signed by Gov. A. B. Chandler, last week makes it mandatory that cities of third class with a Commissioner-City Manager form of government have four commissioners.

Mr. Faulkner noted that unless the law stipulates an election be held immediately, the provisions of the law do not become effective until the next regular election.

Folks, hardly know what to say, except to keep on talking about the weather, which I am sure that you will agree with me, only other subject has taken the place of the weather. Folks that has been basketball. We sent a good team to the State Tournament this time, no we didn't win, but I will say that we put the fear of God into many of the teams that were there after the first game. We won over Grant County. Maybe if the score had been a little closer. That is in the first game. Maybe we wouldn't have gone out to Daviess County High. What can you do with a ball club that is so hot, you don't dare to tell the boys to slow the game down, they are up for the entire tournament. You like myself feel the same way. I am sure that their coach Goebel Ritter had the same feeling. Regardless of their loss. I am confident that you feel as I do, it is not always the best team that wins in tournament play. I have one thing to say that I personally think that the 14th Region is one, or maybe I should say the 14th Region in the entire state. Teams such as Breathitt County, Dilce Combs, M. C. Napier, Hindman, Carr Creek, Hazard, Powell County. Another season has passed as far as basketball is concerned. I am sure like myself that you are thinking of other things to follow.

SUCH AS SPRING

If and when we nit get here, I have refrained from making any statements, have been following the Ladies Birthday Almanac very closely, it has been hitting it right on the head for so long this year. That I am going out on a limb on this statement, by the time you read this, I will predict that many of you will have already had mess of fish that you have caught. Maybe on the lowly red worm, trot line or artificial bait. Regardless if I miss my guess, boys have a heart remember I am not the weather forecaster. Of course this Easter Time, you like myself have heard of a bad spell at this time. Since we have had such a long string of these spells I my reason for defining the Ladies Birthday Almanac. I'll keep my fingers crossed, if I hit it, don't try to argue with me, because I am going to say I told you so. Good Luck. I have already heard of these brave fellows with extra big fires built up along the stream banks. When I can see those fires up and down the banks, boys, I can only say one thing just look out.

TIME AND TIDE

As I have said will take its toll in time, this time it happened to D. C. Ferguson, many of you may have never had the pleasure of knowing him. I am thankful that I did, he was not a man that bragged about his deeds, he to me was a man that enjoyed the fellowship where ever there was good ideas, also good clean stories to be told. If he hunted or fished in the past few years I do not know, he must have done some of it in his life, maybe in his younger years, because he always got such a great enjoyment from it, in hearing other people talk about their experiences. I personally know that many guns that he worked over for many of you, yes he had just finished one for me. I know one thing about him that he loved nature, he also understood so much about it. To this bereaved family, I know that you will appreciate that many more than you thought knew about D. C. and his works. The many clocks he has made. Yes boys, they were the homemade kind. To me with the type work he did in his off time with his work shop, restoring some of the natural ability that he had been handed from generation. Yes to preserve and to show the next generations what they could do if they applied themselves. To me this was the type man that D. C. Ferguson was made of.

NICE HEARING

From you Mrs. Ida Combs, now residing in Cincinnati area. I have sent you a few gourd seeds, also the old fashioned pea seed. Hope you enjoy both, rest assured these are tender peas, would advise you to save some seed from them. Glad to know that you still like reading after my column. So you can now get a start of gourds, as well as the sallet peas, yes also the cushaws as you mentioned. To so many of you that have requested of me to send you the gourd seeds, I doubt very much that I will be able to get around to all of you, unless I can contact my old friend Johnny Basso down Troublesome creek way. If I can get them I will forward them on to so many of you that have made this request. Confound if I realized what I was getting into in regard to this gourd situation. I don't think that I would have ever mentioned them. I simply didn't realize that so many people had used them. I hope that we can bring them back again. I am confident that many of you will replace your drinking habits back to the gourd again.

NOT FOR HIM

Years ago a mattock was taken from a party living in our area, a certain character was questioned in regard to the disappearance of same, he replied Lord Oh Lord forgive them for ever accusing me of tealing a mattock, because you are the only one that actually knows, "How Bad I Hate Them." You know I don't want one of those things on my hands.

NICE TALKING

To you R. B. Deaton down Barwick way, he was in few days ago trying to get a hog rifle ready to ship to a son-in-law in Oregon. He stated that he wouldn't know how to use it after he received it. R. B. sent along all instructions. I could tell by all the plans and the care he had gone through with to make a wooden shipping case to see that this gun should arrive safely. I often wonder that our younger generation, would have gone to all the trouble that his dad-in-law did to see that he got what he wanted. To me, it showed the amount of faith he had in this boy. I only hope that he appreciated this gun as much as the old man did in sending it to him. Boys, if you are interested in preserving our resources, why not mail your dues in today as a member of the Perry Fish and Game Club.

Not Here? We Pray of Magistrates A Salary To Cripple Our Government

We can only hope and pray that what has happened in Letcher County doesn't happen when the Perry Fiscal Court meets.

Tuesday, members of the Letcher County Fiscal Court voted themselves salaries of $200 a month each. This in the face of a Letcher treasury already near bankruptcy means that our neighbors must flounder in an economic straightjacket for some years to come.

The financial condition of Letcher County is so serious that "worried county officials" are afraid they will have to abandon the commodity distribution program, abolish the county health department, the county agent, the home demonstration agent, do away with the county library, and abandon the county's road building and maintenance program—all this to meet salaries of dollar-hungry magistrates.

But, who are we to talk? If anyone hereabout believes Perry County's treasury is over-flowing with the silver and green, best they take a second look. We too, know the frustrating discomfort of an economic straight-jacket.

That is why the action of tomorrow meeting of the Perry Fiscal Court takes on added meaning. For there is little question, but that the matter of salaries for magistrates will come up then.

Under a bill passed by the legislature recently, and signed into law by Governor Chandler, magistrates may vote themselves any salary up to $200. Understand, that $200 is the maximum amount they may be paid; any lesser amount per month is permissible.

In a county the size of Perry, the importance of our magistrates cannot be underestimated. They are the liaison between the people of their districts and the county, State and Federal governments. Roads, welfare, and other public matters of importance come to their attention.

Grassroots Opinion

JUNCTION CITY, ORE., TIMES: "...Interest cost on the national debt has risen $1.2 billion since 1953. Thus, a smaller part of each tax dollar goes to pay for actual government service; a larger part to those who lend money to the government through bonds and notes."

Senator Fields Reviews Work of Legislature

April 2, 1958

Dear Friends:

This is an attempt to report on session of the General Assembly just ended. I cannot, in this short space, write about all the bills that have become law.

Perhaps the bill that concerns more of our local people reflects the change in Unemployment Compensation Benefits. Under the old law, an unemployed workman draws a maximum of $32.00 weekly. This has been raised to $34.00. The Federal Government has shown signs of increasing the number of weeks a person will be paid this unemployment compensation. Hope we get it.

My bill setting up facilities for Rural Scholarships has become law. Needy dental students will be loaned money to go to dental school, if they will agree to come back to the mountains and practice dentistry. Highway 15 is now "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." The Commonwealth of Kentucky has gone on record requesting the Federal Department of Highways to designate Highway 15 as a Federal Highway. That should make it more convenient to get in and out of the mountains. The University of Kentucky has been requested by the Legislature to set up a College of Mines and Minerals. This would help us develop coal markets, new uses, more economical mining methods.

I introduced a Workmen's Compensation Bill so as to enable injured workmen to draw a maximum of $34.00 (in line with unemployment compensation) weekly while off work because of the injury. This one got beat. Now we have the peculiar situation wherein a well man draws $34.00 per week (unemployment compensation) and an injured man draws only $32.00 weekly for his time off.

Dr. Johnson introduced his "medical-election" bill in the Senate. I was against it but got beat 30-6. In the House, however, it died in the Rules Committee. My argument was not against the doctors, but I was worried what we'd have to take their place if the U.M.W.A. hospitals and the railroad hospitals left the state. Were the Mimers Hospital people bluffing? I don't know—and didn't want to find out! At the public hearing on this bill, I became reacquainted with some 500-600 miners who attended. Looked like "old home week."

During the session we passed the biggest budget bill in our history. We also stopped some 50,000 Kentuckians from having to pay income tax—those whom it hurt the most. The Veterans' Bonus Bill will be voted on as a Constitutional Amendment this Fall. I'm sort of "on the fence" about this. I'm for a Veterans Bonus, but I'm not sure whether a sales tax is the answer. I'm generally opposed to a sales tax, but believe the people have the right to vote whether to pay it for this purpose or not. It's up to the voters now.

LETTER

City Police Commended For Tourney Work

Dear Editor:

Last week due praise was given the teachers, coaches, players and cheerleaders at the end of our basketball season. How about a few kind words for the Hazard police department who stood outside in the rain, snow and wind directing traffic and parking? I thought they did a very good job and displayed great patience and courtesy.

Yours truly,

daily. And in the case of one or two magistrates, there is the added responsibility of trying traffic violations.

Tomorrow, when the Perry Fiscal Court meets, we implore the magistrates of this county to consider first the welfare of the people, and then themselves. We frankly believe they are already men of this calibre and will not vote themselves a salary so outlandishly high as to cripple the government of Perry County.

PAPER PULPIT

Non-Sectarian for the Unchurched

"Then I beheld all the work of God, that a man cannot find out the work—though a wise man think to know it, yet shall he not be able to find it" (Eccl. 8:17). The writer here reminds us that we cannot "know it all." Our knowledge is partial. It is simply the well known fact that we cannot see God. We cannot find exactly where He touches this universe, and yet we know that there is a God.

A country boy went to college and his father came to visit his son at school. Finding him in the chemistry laboratory, he walked right in to talk to him.

"What are you doing, son?"

"Looking for the universal solvent."

"What is that?"

"It's the substance that will dissolve everything."

"Well, what are you going to keep it in after you find it?"

That's just about where we come out in trying to put our finger upon God by scientific methods. Where are you going to put Him after you find Him? The Psalmist said, "Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high, I cannot attain unto it."

It would be simpler to be a rationalist or agnostic, but the fact is we have partial knowledge and have to partake of both positions. We know enough to know there is a God, and are ignorant enough to need His Word, and again we know enough to recognize it as trustworthy and superhuman.

—W. T. BATT

the new legislation, whether only proposed or becomes law. The bill requiring bond of employers to secure payment of their workers' wages, as did the minimum wage bill. The "rest period" bill for women workers is now law, as is "forced-access" highway bill.

Representatives Duff (Perry) and Kincer (Letcher) have done us a good job. A bill has to pass both houses to become law. We would pick up each other's bills when it passed one house, and help push it through the other. House Speaker Morris Weintraub made an unfortunate remark. He could very well have said "kept his trap to," instead of remarking about the mountaineers. I don't think Kincer and Duff exactly fell in love with this man!

I'm back in my law office in Hazard now. I hope all my creditors will give me a little time to recover from my stay in Frankfort!

Come in and see me.

Yours truly,

Letcher Was Sound Money Governor

Charles F. Hinds

Few governors have had as trying an administration as Robert P. Letcher, governor of Kentucky, 1840-44. The worst nationwide depression America had known broke out in 1837. By 1841 it had burst full forth upon the State of Kentucky.

In May of the following year, Governor Letcher, writing to his friend, John J. Crittenden, expressed concern lest Kentuckians want to return to the unsound fiscal policies of Governor Desha's term:

"The times are hard in this country—very hard—indeed more so than you can imagine. The cry for relief is awful, I can tell you. The press upon me to call the Legislature together has in some degree subsided, but still it breaks out every now and then in a fresh place... I believe the Meeting, requesting a call for the Legislature, has had the worst possible effect upon the country. The idea of an extra Session has operated as a notice to the creditors to hasten the debtors, and this work of destruction is now in rapid progress, and the Lord only knows where it will stop."

No special sessions were called, nor did the Legislature of Letcher's administration take the short view and allow themselves to be stampeded into passing replevin laws and repudiating State obligations. At the end of his term, the governor could look back with satisfaction upon the results of his leadership. For the first time in several years, the budget was balanced in each of the fiscal years of Letcher's administration, not without effect, perhaps, on the general prosperity of Kentucky, which rose markedly following the critical year of 1842.

Letcher was born in 1788 in Goochland County, Virginia, one of the 12 children of Stephen Giles and Betsey Perkins Letcher. The family moved to Mercer County in 1800 and shortly thereafter to Garnard.

Letcher served briefly in the War of 1812, but in the second year of the war switched from the army to politics. He was in the Kentucky House, 1813-15, 1817, 1836-38, and in the United States House, 1823-33. In 1849 he was appointed minister to Mexico, holding that post until 1852.

Following his defeat for Congress in the last named year at the hands of John C. Breckinridge, Letcher retired to his home in Frankfort, where he died in 1861.

APRIL 1750—FIRST HOUSE BUILT IN KENTUCKY

Dr. Thomas Walker, the pioneer physician and explorer, preceded Boone into Kentucky by nearly twenty years. Walker and his party passed through Cumberland Gap in early April, 1750. Near the present town of Barboursville the small party erected a log hut about 8 x 12 feet size—the first house built in Kentucky! A replica of it now stands on the same site in the Dr. Thomas Walker Memorial State Park. In Kentucky's historic past, just as today, many of our citizens have always enjoyed a glass of beer. The brewing industry makes jobs for thousands of our residents. The sale of this light, bright beverage of moderation under orderly conditions is an important objective of the United States Brewers Foundation. Our continuing educational program helps beer retailers maintain their high standards.

State Income Tax Deadline Near

April 15 is a date to be circled on your calendar. This is the deadline for filing Kentucky individual income tax returns.

Revenue Commissioner J. E. Luckett reminded Kentuckians that every person having a gross annual income of $600 or more is required by State law to file a return, except persons 65 years of age or older who may earn $1,200 before they are required to file.

Luckett said the tax forms and procedure for filing are as simple for the taxpayer as possible. "Generally speaking," he added, "the gross income and itemized deductions to be reported on the 1957 return are the same as those to be reported to the federal government."

He reminded taxpayers to attach to the returns original copies of Kentucky withholding statements received from each employer.

Farmers and business and professional people, the commissioner said, are required to submit schedules to verify income or deductions reported on their returns.

He advised that any tax return filed without required schedules or withholding statements is considered incomplete. If a refund is due on such a return, it will be delayed until appropriate schedules or withholding statements are submitted.

Forms and instructions for filing the 1957 Kentucky Income Tax Returns are obtainable at banks, court houses, and revenue department offices at Ashland, Covington, Lexington, Louisville, Paducah and Frankfort.

WKIC To Carry New Series By Protestant Hour Network

ATLANTA, GA., April 5.—Radio station WKIC in Hazard will be participating with more than 300 stations of the Protestant Hour Network in broadcasting the Presbyterian Series, which for the first time will feature the addresses of a current Moderator of the General Assembly, of the Presbyterian Church, U. S.

Dr. William M. Elliott, Jr., pastor of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church in Dallas, Tex., is presently Moderator of the denomination's highest court. He was elected Moderator of the 97th General Assembly, Presbyterian Church, U. S., in April 1957, in Birmingham, Ala., thus receiving the highest honor that Church can give. The Presbyterian Series of the Protestant Hour will be heard in Hazard every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., beginning the week of April 13 and running through the week of June 15.

Dr. Elliott, a very popular speaker heard throughout the South, will be heard throughout the United States, and in Canada, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Philippines, and the Virgin Islands on this series. His topic during the ten week series will be: "When One Feels Inadequate"; "The Struggle With Resentment"; "What to do with Life's Burdens"; "A Pat on the Back"; "What Makes a Nation Great"; "In the World, But Not of It"; "Our Individual Responsibility to God"; "Food for the Hungry Heart"; and "The Indispensable Man."

The Protestant Hour, now in its thirteenth year, features five series of messages each year. These include those of the Methodist, Presbyterian, U. S., and U.S.A. (Southern and Northern) United Lutheran and Episcopal Churches. In addition to the over 300 standard wave stations which carry it, some 170 short-wave stations broadcast the Protestant Hour on the Armed Forces Network.

Flood-Hit Towns Plans Projects For Improvement

A number of Eastern Kentucky cities hit by the record floods of January, 1957, are planning "face-lifting" operations, the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission reported.

Farthest advanced in plans for community improvements is Hazard, where urban renewal, low-rent housing, and sewage disposal projects have been approved by agencies of the Federal government.

Under the urban renewal project, damaged buildings in the business district will be torn down to make way for a city-owned parking lot. The Federal government will pay two-thirds of the cost and Hazard one-third. The cost is estimated at $300,000. Hazard has agreed to furnish pavements and utilities to serve 200 units of planned, low-rent housing and has been allotted $206,000 of Federal funds by the Kentucky Water Pollution Control Commission to help pay the cost of sewage collection and treatment facilities.

Cumberland has been allotted $87,000 and Pikeville $246,000 for sewage collection and treatment facilities. Ashland heads the priority list for Federal sewage disposal funds if money becomes available during 1958-59.

Eastern Kentucky cities which are planning to apply for low-rent housing projects include Williamsburg, Corbin, Cumberland, Jackson, and Barbourville, the commission said.

"Indian River" will be a 16,000-man "war" fought over the 270,000 acres of Cascade foothills at the Yakima Training Center from May 6 to 20.

Sp3 Tessner, son of Mrs. Arilla Tessner, Slomp, Ky., is with the division's 2d How Bn (105mm) 1st Arty. He is assigned as a Cannoneer.

The upcoming maneuver will employ the 4th Division "Saints" and several thousand troops from other posts and Fort Lewis units in one of the first major tests of the Army's new pen-toxic battle order.

Combat training will include offensive and defensive actions under atomic, electronic, chemical-biological-radiological, guerrilla and psychological warfare conditions.

Simulated atomic blasts will add further battle realism. Aills planned are the air lift of a reinforced battle group and use of new devices which harmlessly simulate radioactive fallout and its detection.
